Through All the Years--

Many are those who love Gardening; many who know plants and flowers; many who understand their culture, and it is little wonder therefore that with the tendency to sub-divide occupations and interests that such a large number of our people should find relaxation and pleasure in gardening.

Present forms of gardening have been evolved from many greatly differing styles; formal gardens, landscaping, Victorian gardens, rock gardens, etc., and parts of each are embraced in present day gardening. All forms have held sway in their time, and through all these periods McGregor's have been one of the largest plant producing and distributing sources within our borders. It is, therefore, not by accident but rather by definite design, that McGregor's Year Book has been sent out over the land through all these years. Through three quarters of a century this Year Book, our annual messenger, has presented to a flower loving public those things that make for indoor and outdoor decoration, pleasure and healthful recreation as well.

Rare opportunities for plant buyers are presented in this book. Broad guarantees go hand in hand with purchases. All in all, the largest producing source of its kind in this country stands ready to serve you and extends appreciative acknowledgment of a wonderful Horticulture and Floriculture progress through your gardening interests.

May 1941 be your best garden year.

Very respectfully

On this page and pages 6 and 8, we have listed some of the best monthly blooming own root roses that can be produced, and which fit best into the varying conditions in all the states in the Union. They make rose growing easy; they eliminate the troubles that come to some of the less experienced rose growers. On pages 4, 6, 8, 10, 12, we list Roses of 1, 2 and 3 yr. size. All of the plants of the one and two year size offered are plants grown on their own roots and all three year plants are field grown budded stock. For the more experienced Rose growers in sections north of Tennessee, particularly the inland sections of the country, and for those willing to make a little greater investment, the heavy budded Roses are recommended. Budded Roses are budded on stronger root systems than the particular variety carries.

The Most Valuable Plants of Our Time!

All of the popular varieties for yard and hedge planting as well as for specimens and rock gardens, and in sizes that provide for easy planting and successful results. Plant any time during Spring or Fall. All plants are strong and healthy and well rooted.

When we speak of Evergreens in general, including the cone bearing family, we must decide that they are the most important trees in the economy of civilized man. They have furnished the bulk of the material of which our civilization was built; from the standpoint of the horticulturist for landscaping effects, they give us a remarkable combination of effectiveness and beauty with their long lasting life, and their yearly increasing value places them in the most important position in plant life. To all these graces, they satisfy that allure for charm and elegance in the home grounds that the finest furnishings give to the interior of our homes. Their evergreen habit, striking color of foliage, symmetrical verdurous beauty, ruggedness, adaptation to many uses; growing anywhere with tolerance for shade, ornamental, serviceable and picturesque, all to the extent of making them representative of greatest plant values. Arbor Vitae Evergreens should be planted in sunny places; Junipers, Hemlocks and Pines in open sun or semi-shade.

The Evergreens below represent the best varieties for home planting.
